

The journey continues...

After Sixth Form, some potential University courses that could be studied include Computer Science, Engineering, Mathematics or another science (e.g. Physics). It is also well thought of for Business. Other options are to join an apprenticeship, where Computer Science is seen as a desirable subject to have. The ability to programme is a skill that is in high demand in the business world.

