

Denbigh School— Music Technology Sixth Form learning journey

After Sixth Form, some potential University courses include: Sound engineering, sound design, acoustics engineering, computer game audio, online content creation.

Further training could also enable working in Theatre, Live performances and broadcasting. You can also use your skills to help you to capture your own creativity when composing, recording and producing your own music.

Welcome to Year 12. Induction and transition activities